ABSTRACT

This guide to college selection for the physically handicapped student summarizes information on the services and policies of 500 two- and four-year colleges. As to each college, it indicates if there are student organizations, offices, financial aid services, or career development services specifically designed for handicapped students, and if the college has classroom/testing location flexibility. For blind or visually handicapped students, it indicates if each college has readers, braille/tape resources, or special orientation programs, and if the college allows guide dogs in classrooms and residence halls. For deaf or hearing impaired students, it indicates if each college provides interpreters or notetaking services. For mobility-impaired students, it indicates if each college provides attendants or transportation, and if wheelchair and equipment repair are available on campus or nearby. The manual also includes descriptions of the general directories of undergraduate and graduate schools; the addresses of individuals, organizations, and offices identified as having primary responsibility for assisting handicapped students at their colleges or universities; and a list of governor's committees on employment of the handicapped for the fifty states, Puerto Rico, and the District of Columbia. Washington, D.C. 20210

The President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped is pleased to publish and distribute this booklet which summarizes data gathered by Abt Associates, Inc., of Cambridge, Massachusetts in an extensive survey of this country's colleges and universities. The study conducted by Abt Associates was funded by a grant from the Bureau of Education for the Handicapped, U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

INTRODUCTION

Many disabled youths, intent on furthering their education, make their choice of college or university on the basis of its accessibility. Are there steps to classroom buildings and labs, are dormitories designed to accommodate wheelchairs, are campus crosswalks surrounded by curbs? A campus environment free of physical barriers is certainly an important consideration for a young person who has to live with a disability, but it's not the only one. For the severely disabled, successful adjustment to college life may depend on vital services—services that can actually determine whether or not a student gains that coveted degree.

Investigate whether a prospective college or university is free of architectural barriers, sure. But also make inquiries about needed services that can help you accommodate to the new life on campus.

That's what this booklet is all about.

If you are contemplating going away to college, by all means make your choice first on the basis of academic advantages. Then find out whether or not the campus and all necessary facilities are accessible. Finally, investigate what supportive services are available. This latter task is made easier for you by referring to the matrix that follows.

One word of caution, however. Don't let this publication serve as a critical screening device for your college selection. Daily changes are occurring at institutions of higher learning, because of the growing influx of disabled students on campus and the realization that barriers are an insidious form of discrimination to disabled people. Rapid improvements are being made. Check with the educational institution of your choice for currently accurate information.

What about accessibility? How can a disabled student tell whether a prospective college or university is barrier free? Information has been collected for each institution on this topic also. Architectural and campus surveys were made of individual classroom buildings, libraries, laboratories, stadiums, dormitories, etc. The data gathered is too voluminous to publish in this booklet, considering that 500 institutions were involved in the survey. You can, however, obtain information about an individual campus by writing to the Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped located in that same State. The addresses are listed in the Appendix. Or, you can check with the college of your choice. Or, if you want a complete directory of all the colleges surveyed, write to Abt Associates, Inc., 55 Wheeler Street, Cambridge, Massachusetts 02138. The price is $12.00 for handicapped students and their families; $18.50 for libraries, schools and other institutions.

GENERAL HANDBOOKS AND DIRECTORIES

Gathering information on which to compare schools is an important step in preparing for college or graduate study. Fortunately, a vast amount of materials has already been prepared which provides in-depth descriptions of schools across the country. Many of the handbooks and directories described in this section also tell how admissions decisions are made, what the necessary steps are in preparing for and entering college, how to take admissions tests, and how to choose a college to meet personal interests and requirements.

Ideally, a student will begin thinking about and comparing schools early in his/her junior year (if not sooner). Even before the student has read anything about schools, s/he will have some ideas resulting from conversations with counselors, teachers, parents, friends, or from the images given the schools by the media. During the junior year, the student should follow up on these leads and also pick up new ones by making use of several different handbooks or directories. By the end of her/his junior year, the student should have a narrower list of schools from which to request more detailed information and application forms. The admissions offices of these schools should be contacted early in the senior year (if not sooner) to be sure that no deadlines will be missed. A visit to the campus can provide very valuable additional information for the student and, in some cases, is required by the school.

A fairly extensive, although not exhaustive, list of the available handbooks and directories is included in this section. Some of the publications are described more fully than others, but no value judgement is thus implied.

To find the handbook or directory most suited to a student's particular needs, it would be a good idea to browze bookstores, local and school libraries, or a counselor's bookshelf, before investing in a purchase. It may not even be necessary to have personal copies of the guides, especially since some of them are quite expensive.

Barron's Profiles of American Colleges, Ninth Edition

This handbook comes in two volumes. Volume I provides in-depth descriptions of over 1,450 colleges and universities recognized by the regional accrediting associations. Each description contains information on student life, campus environment, programs of study, costs and financial aid, admission requirements, and standards. A special College Selector section groups all colleges into seven categories from most competitive to those requiring only a high school diploma.

Volume II is an index to major areas of study. All undergraduate majors and concentrations at over 1,460 accredited colleges are indicated in easy-to-read chart format. Regional editions of Volume I are also available, giving excerpted college descriptions for those seeking schools in particular parts of the country.

Volume I: $6.95, paper; $18.00, cloth. Volume II: $4.95, paper; $12.00, cloth. Volume I, the West: $1.95; The Northwest, $2.95; The Midwest, $2.75; The South, $2.50. Available in most bookstores or from the publishers: Barron's Educational Series, Inc.

Barron's Guide to the Two-Year Colleges, Fifth Edition

This is a two-volume handbook, comparable to Barron's Profiles of American Colleges. Volume I provides a comprehensive guide to junior colleges, community colleges, technical-vocational institutions, business schools, and four-year colleges with two-year programs. Each school is described by admission requirements, enrollment, religious affiliation, student-to-teacher ratio, campus size, atmosphere and housing, financial assistance, and academic and occupational programs. Volume II contains the Occupational Program Selector, a guide to colleges offering programs in Agriculture, Applied Arts, Business and Commerce, Media, Ecology, Health, Public and Private Services, and Trade and Technical fields. Over 150 programs are presented in chart format, allowing easy cross-referencing. Volume I: $4.95, paper; $9.50, cloth. Volume II: $3.25, paper; $7.25, cloth. Available in bookstores or from the publishers:

Lovejoy's College Guide, Twelfth Edition

Written by Clarence E. Lovejoy, this guide gives a more comprehensive listing of colleges and universities but less in-depth descriptions than Barron's. Section One provides general information on choosing a college and applying for admission and financial aid. Section Two lists names of colleges and universities where specific professional curricula (from Accounting to Zoology) and special programs (advanced placement, cooperative education, correspondence study, early decision, honors, kosher meals, language houses, trimester system, etc.) can be found. Of particular interest to disabled students is a list of colleges and universities having facilities for the handicapped and education by telephone for the handicapped. Section Three contains very brief (one-paragraph) descriptions and ratings of over 3,500 colleges and universities, listed alphabetically within states. Available in most bookstores for $4.95, paper. Published by:

Comparative Guide to American Colleges, Seventh Edition

Written and recently revised by James Cass and Max Birnbaum, this best-selling guide is based on original research, data, and information from the colleges themselves. It covers all accredited four-year colleges with an analysis of each, paying particular attention to students' attitudes and concerns, the campus environment, and a detailed treatment of the school's academic quality. Available for $6.95, paper, in bookstores; or from:

Harper and Row Publishers, Inc.
10 East 53rd Street
New York, New York 10022

College Guide for Jewish Youth: Mobility for Handicapped Students

This directory is of particular interest to disabled students because it reprints a directory of colleges and universities with facilities for handicapped students entitled "Mobility for Handicapped Students," issued by the Rehabilitation Services Administration in 1968 and now out of print. For further information, contact:

Comparative Guide to Junior and Two-Year Community Colleges

Based on original research and data collected by James Cass and Max Birnbaum, including information from college presidents, admissions officers, deans of students, and student leaders, this book provides descriptions of non-residential two-year colleges that draw their students primarily from the immediately surrounding area. Detailed information is given on admission standards, composition of the student body, academic environment (including training and honors of the faculty), and campus life. Available in bookstores for $3.95, paper; or from:

The Insider's Guide to Colleges, 1976-77 Edition

Compiled and edited by the staff of The Yale Daily News, this paperback advertises itself as the only up-to-date handbook written by students for students. Its somewhat bland descriptions of a limited number of colleges include information on admission standards, financial assistance, housing, atmosphere, campus environment, enrollment, expenses, student-to-faculty ratio, type of students, and student activities. Available in paper for $2.50 at bookstores, or write to:

Berkeley Publishing Corporation
200 Madison Avenue

Other Sources of Undergraduate Information

The American Council on Education prepares an annual directory in September, which lists accredited institutions of higher education in the United States that are approved by the nation's six regional associations of schools and colleges. Available for $5.50 from: American Council on Education, One Dupont Circle, Washington, D.C. 20036.

American Universities and Colleges, 11th Edition (1973), $42; American Junior Colleges, 8th Edition

(1971), $20; A Guide to Graduate Study; Programs Leading to the Ph.D. Degree, 4th Edition (1969), $19. Available from: American Council on Education, One Dupont Circle, Washington, D.C. 20036.

College Charts gives tabular and general information on admissions, cost, enrollment, and financial aid programs at approximately 3,000 colleges in the United States. The book is available for $5.50 prepaid from: Chronicle Guidance Publications, Inc., Moravia, New York 13118.

Colleges Classified groups two- and four-year colleges by student body, enrollment, and cost patterns. Available for $2 prepaid from: Chronicle Guidance Publications, Inc., Moravia, New York 13118.

College Entrance Guide, by Bernice W. Einstein, answers the questions most often asked by students and parents. It includes directories of accredited colleges, colleges with specialized majors, and colleges with cooperative education programs; specific information on application with admission to college; separate sections on financing the college education; and on opportunities for the disadvantaged, the handicapped, and Veterans; and information on careers, on study-abroad programs, and on improving reading and study skills. The 399-page 1972-73 edition is available for $4.95 from: Grosset & Dunlap, Inc., 51 Madison Avenue, New York, New York 10010.

The College Handbook is an invaluable reference book and should be available to all students considering a college education. The Handbook outlines in detail study programs, degrees, admission requirements, location, facilities, expenses, financial aid available, and almost all facets of college life about which students or parents may have questions. Available for $6.95 from: College Board Publication Orders, Box 2815, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.

Directory of Accredited Institutions contains the names and addresses of accredited independent business schools and junior and senior colleges of business in the United States and Canada. Available free from: Association of Independent Colleges and Schools, 1730 M Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

Education Directory, 1974-75, Higher Education is published by the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, National Center for Education Statistics (GPO No. 017-080-01392-4) for $6.45. It lists 3,038 accredited two- and four-year colleges in the country. College information includes enrollment, control, highest degree offered, programs, tuition. National statistics include distribution of higher education facilities by state, type of program, control, etc.

The Junior College Directory, annually revised, lists 1,203 two-year colleges in the United States and gives current data on the name of the institution, location, chief administrative head, year of organization, control or affiliation, recognition or accreditation, type, enrollment, faculty, and yearly costs. Available for $7 from: AA JC Publications, 621 Duke Street, Alexandria, Virginia 22314.

Graduate Programs and Admissions Manual

The Graduate Programs and Admissions Manual, jointly sponsored by the Graduate Record Examinations Board and the Council of Graduate Schools in the United States, is an important source of information for prospective graduate students. It provides pertinent information about more than 500 institutions and their graduate programs—information such as institution size, academic calendar, financial aid deadlines, department sizes, graduate programs offered, departmental specialties, language requirements, whether or not the GRE or other tests are required or recommended, and so on. In addition, the Manual lists specific addresses for each institution.

The Manual is published in four volumes, arranged by discipline. Volume A covers Biological Sciences, Health Sciences, and Related Fields; Volume B covers Arts and Humanities; Volume C, Physical Sciences, Mathematics, and Engineering; and Volume D, Social Sciences and Education. The volumes are available separately; each includes a copy of the sample GRE Aptitude Test at no extra charge.

The Manual costs $3.50 per volume. An order is normally filled within three days (excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays) after it is received. Shipments to addresses within the United States, Puerto Rico, Canada, and Mexico are made by surface mail (printed matter), unless the purchaser requests airmail and pays the additional $2 postage. Shipments to addresses in other countries are made by air only, and the total cost is $8.50.

Space is provided on GRE registration forms for regular administrations in the United States and Puerto Rico to enable one to order one or more volumes of the Manual; such provision is not made on foreign registration forms. The Manual may be ordered independently of the registration form included in the GRE Information Bulletin. Write to:

Guide to Graduate and Professional Study presents information on admission, enrollment, cost, and financial aid at 930 graduate and professional schools in the United States. Available for $5 prepaid from: Chronicle Guidance Publications, Inc., Moravia, New York 13118.

Medical School Admission Requirements—U.S.A. and Canada

The Association of American Medical Colleges, sponsor of the Medical College Admission Test, publishes this annually revised book, covering such topics as premedical planning, choosing a medical school, the medical school admission process, financial information for medical students, opportunities for minority group students, and suggestions for U.S. students considering foreign medical schools. Detailed information on the admission requirements, selection factors, curriculum features, financial aid programs, application and acceptance procedures, estimated expenses, and applicant statistics are provided by each U.S. and Canadian medical school. Available for $5.00 prepaid, fourth-class mail, or $6.50 rush mail, from:

Association of American Medical Colleges

One Dupont Circle, Northwest
Washington, D.C. 20036

AAMC Curriculum Directory

Information for this annually revised publication is gathered by the Association of American Medical Colleges (AAMC), Department of Academic Affairs, and correspondents of the AAMC Group on Medical Education. The Directory provides basic objective data on the curriculum of every North American medical school matriculating students. Each school's instruction program, including required and elective course titles, duration, types of instruction, and specific conditions for learning, are outlined. Descriptive statistics with frequency tables and categorical listing are drawn from the data provided by the schools, and identify patterns of change and development in the medical curriculum. Available for $5.00 prepaid, fourth-class mail, or $6.50 rush mail, from:

Prelaw Handbook

The Prelaw Handbook, sponsored by the Law School Admission Council and the Association of American Law Schools, features descriptions, prepared by the law schools themselves, of nearly all schools in the United States approved by the American Bar Association. It also includes introductory chapters discussing the legal profession, prelaw studies, the law school admission process, and law study. The Handbook is available in most college bookstores. It may also be ordered from the Educational Testing Service, by completing the appropriate section of the Law School Admission Test registration form and sending the appropriate fee. If ordered in this manner, the cost is $3.00, fourth-class mail; or $5.00, first-class mail. To obtain the LSAT registration form, write to:

Graduate Study in Management

Over 300 graduate programs in management, including most of those requiring the Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT) of applicants for admission, are described in each annual edition of Graduate Study in Management. This publication, prepared for the Admission Council for Graduate Study in Management by the Educational Testing Service (ETS), also discusses many aspects of graduate management education and possible careers to which an MBA or similar degree might lead. In addition, it contains a full-length sample of the GMAT, including actual directions and the time limits for sections of the test. The 1975-76 edition of this publication is available for sale in many university and commercial bookstores at a list price of $4.95. However, it can also be obtained directly from ETS (using the order form included with the GMAT Information Bulletin) for only $3.95, surface mail delivery, or for $8.95, air mail delivery. To obtain the order form, along with the Bulletin, write to:

This section consists of summarized information about the services and policies of the colleges listed in the Directory. The summary was designed to show only the basic services and policies, not to be a comprehensive review of campus features.

This section can be used in a number of ways. It can stand alone as a useful summary of key aspects of a college. It can be used to help the user to identify those schools which seem to meet basic requirements in terms of services. For readers interested in, for example, those schools which seem to offer the most support for blind persons, then it is possible to glance through the summary at the columns identifying services specifically for blind students. The summary tables are the most efficient way to tell which colleges have certain basic services.

The summary tables are divided into four (4) parts, according to the population served:

(1) General Services for Students with All Types of Disabilities
(2) Services for Blind or Visually-Impaired Students
(3) Services for Deaf or Hearing-Impaired Students
(4) Services for Mobility-Impaired Students

When a college indicated that it currently had a particular service, it is indicated with an "X"; a "P" indicates that the service is planned. A blank means no service is available specifically oriented towards students with disabilities. The college may well have the service for all students.

1. General Services for Students with All Types of Disabilities

In this section, it is indicated if a college has the following services, which are available to students with all types of disabilities:

- A Disabled Students Organization
- A Disabled Students Office
- Financial Aid Services specifically oriented towards the needs of students with disabilities.
- Career Development Services specifically oriented towards students with disabilities.
- Policy Flexibility with respect to relocation of classes and making special testing arrangements for disabled students. (These are indicated with a "C" and/or a "T", respectively.)

2. Services for Blind or Visually-Impaired Students

In this section, it is indicated if a college has the following services for blind or visually-impaired students:

- Readers
- Braille/Tape Resources, including a Braille Library and/or a tape library and/or the ability to either tape materials for students or to obtain taped materials and/or Braille machines and/or other devices or materials such as Optacon equipment or large-type books. In general, this indicates if a school makes provisions for assisting blind or visually-impaired students in obtaining needed materials.
- Mobility Orientation could include either raised or auditory maps of the campus and/or mobility orientation sessions for incoming blind students.
- Guide Dogs Allowed in classrooms and residences on-campus.

3. Services for Deaf or Hearing-Impaired Students

In this section, it is indicated if a college has the following services for deaf or hearing-impaired students:

- Interpreters available for classroom and/or non-classroom activities, either directly through the school or arranged with assistance by the school.
- Notetaking Services provided through the school. As is indicated below, this service can be beneficial for other students who have upper extremity limitations, not only for deaf or hearing-impaired students.
- Other Services for Deaf Students include the availability of teletypewriters and/or amplified telephones and/or closed-circuit television and/or videotape facilities and/or captioned films.

4. Services for Mobility-Impaired Students

In this section, it is indicated if a college has the following services for mobility-impaired students:

- Attendants provided through the school
- Wheelchair and Equipment Repair, either on-campus or in the neighboring community
- Transportation provided by the school for students with disabilities
